Tarrant County selects Informa Systems to meet their learning and training needs

San Antonio, TX, June 2013 - Tarrant County, TX, one of the fastest growing urban counties in the United States selected the InformaOne solution to meet the learning and training management needs of the Sheriff's Department within the county. "This was a significant development since Tarrant County has diverse training requirements from meeting the needs of law enforcement to corrections officers," says Ann Konzal, senior sales consultant at Informa Systems.

Tarrant County were particularly impressed by the ability to quickly create online learning and make it available to officers in the field. No specialist skills were required because the authoring tool used to create learning content is very easy to use.

Crucially, current instructors were able to create the online learning modules using the lessons plans that they had created from their existing classroom training. Deploying the courses online was a simple one-click operation. The system was also capable of integrating with the state reporting system.

By integrating all areas of e-Learning into one common product clients can easily and quickly develop, deploy, manage and communicate using a common user interface. Informa Systems is helping to define the emerging face of e-Learning, deploying services that touch a trainer's daily experiences, such as course authoring, community portals and online communication," stated Lorna Zimmermann, Informa Systems' Director of Sales and Marketing.
